MAHISCAN

PUBLISHED BY THE ASSOCIATED STUDENT BODY OF MARSHFIELD HIGH SCHOOL

Coos Bay, Oregon

EDITORS:

The crimson and gold autumn leaves of the maple and the dogwood drifting by our windows; the pungent perfume of the tall fir twinkling with Christmas lights; alien ships, loaded with fir and cedar, slipping down the Coos; the capricious Pacific's driftwood for late spring beach parties—all these betoken our close association with trees. Even Student Body President Kurt Black shows how the cherry tree can provide presidential timber.

To Mr. PETE SUSICK, who has been teaching at Marshfield for twelve years, we dedicate this 1958 MAHISCAN. Not only has he inspired the students to achieve success, but he has also attempted to instill in the student body those characteristics that make the athlete worthy of admiration. As we become adults, we shall realize even more fully that we have been made better people because of his training, for through his discipline we have learned that in life as in football one gets out of it what one puts into it.

Rulers, wooden desks, and hickory sticks are traditional symbols of school life. Apples, another symbol, are often given to teachers in appreciation for all they have done. The teachers at Marshfield High School certainly deserve the apples for all the fruitful years they have given to the students at Marshfield High School.

Several departments this year took a spurt with the addition of the east branch typing classes, new teachers, and the new auto shop. The economics department gained recognition from O.S.C. when the college sent two apprentice teachers to practice and observe at Marshfield High School during the fall term.

The flu bug kept the nurses, and secretaries busy during the fall siege, which for several days saw almost half of the student body absent: eventually the pupils recuperated to keep the cooks and custodians busy for the rest of the year, and the secretaries returned to typing tests instead of voluminous absentee lists.

FRESHMAN CLASS

The freshman class, 400 strong this year, planted its roots at MHS to become the largest class that Marshfield has ever seen, and the first to move into the remodeled East Branch.

Most of the freshmen attended the "Freshman Mixer," sponsored by the Student Council.

After class officers were elected, the class immediately began growing by winning second prize for its float for the down town rally. Many frosh displayed their abilities in the freshman talent show, "Entering Marshfield."

During the "March of Dimes" the freshmen startled many upperclassmen by starting off their drive with a bang. They sold candy and doughnuts and held a car wash. To gain money for their empty treasury, they recieved the coke, ice cream, and popcorn concessions during the same game.

In the spring the East Branch took on a new appearance. The freshmen not only planted shrubs around the building but also kept the grounds cleaned.

Mr. Martin and Mrs. Baker helped to get the class of '61 started.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The sophomore class's first project as "upper underclassmen" was to design and build a float for the North Bend Rally. Still supporting its athletic teams, the class fought hard to retain possession of the cow bell at the pep rallies. The outstanding activity, the Sophomore talent show, featured, among other acts, dancing, a quartet, and a monologue. Winning the Student Council plaque for collecting the most money for the "March of Dimes" was additional evidence of the abilities of the Class of '60.

Looking forward to their years as upperclassmen, the Sophomores carried on several projects to enrich their treasury. The class had concessions at football and basketball games, a midyear scrap metal drive, and an all-school dance in the spring.

Advisers were Mr. Kimmer, Mr. Larsen, Miss Zehntner, Mr. Reavis.

JUNIOR CLASS

The highlight of the junior year was the prom "Harbor Lights." The first weeks of November saw trenzied juniors torn between painting lighthouses for the prom, sending invitations, and tying burlap sacks for the rally float. Students began an evening of enchantment Junior Prom night by walking into the lobby representing waterfront street. Next they found themselves in a marine dreamland in the main ballroom. Dancing to tunes of a nautical theme completed the Junior Prom picture of delight and happiness. The busy juniors contributed a unique float for the North Bend Rally in the midst of last-minute prom preparations. They then turned the junior spotlight on earning that essential item for any class, money, through a rummage sale, popcorn concessions at football and basketball games, and a car wash and selling candy for the class contribution to the "March of Dimes."

The class surprised other students by revealing the "Junior Secret," Pirate license name plates. Crying "Spread our school's fame," the juniors encouraged others to buy a license plate frame. Never out of the limelight, they sought to glide smoothly through the Junior Talent Show; unfortunately the assembly had to be canceled at the halfway point. The juniors suddenly found themselves at the end of an eventful year, honoring the seniors by sponsoring the traditional Junior-Senior Dessert and decorating for their graduation and baccalaureate.

Class officers were Mike Lucas, President; Tina Holland, Vice President; Lynn Savage, Secretary; Jean Becker, Treasurer; Steve Thorwald, Sergeant-at-Arms; Mary Morrissey, John Norton, Student Council Reps.; Doris West, Publicity Manager; Glenda Spurgeon and Walt Hunter, Career Day Reps. Advisers were Miss Ruth Williams, Miss Ruby Goude, Mr. John Wampole, and Mr. Raymond Thiess.

SENIOR CLASS

The freshman year of the class of '58 marked a humble beginning and one which promised little class recognition for the remaining years of high school. In a unique way, individually and as a class, distinction came slowly but gloriously. It is not a "rags to riches" story, but rather one of eventual success. For the first time in Marshfield's history, a senior became a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship contest; for the first time a senior was nominated to enter the Thom McAn Leadership Awards Program; and there were more seniors entering competitive scholarship contests than ever before.

When they were freshmen they were naturally shy and afraid of what Marshfield held for them, but the juniors gave them some re-assurance by sponsoring a get-acquainted Freshman Mixer. Only the usual projects were tackled by the class. As the first year faded away, they came into their own and were ready, willing, and able to return as sophomores and show everyone that they were a hard working class.

The sophomore year proved to be much more eventful than the previous one. They rushed into a money-making scheme—a rummage sale, and finally concluded the year with an all-school dance. These projects swelled the treasury enough to finance the many activities that were to come.

Their junior year was filled with activities. The talent show was acclaimed throughout the school as one of the best to ever be presented. In the fall the class worked very hard for over a month on its junior prom, "Masquerade," finishing only a few minutes before the grand march. The class took a holiday of another nature as it traveled to the Islands for the theme of the Junior-Senior Dessert "Hawaiian Farewell." As members of the class decorated the gym for graduation, they began to contemplate the next year with mixed feelings of anxiety and anticipation.

Laughing at the prophecies, the new senior class presented a satire of prison as their talent show. Their money matters were foremost in their thoughts, as they contributed their efforts selling homemade candy and washing cars for the "March of Dimes," and holding a rummage sale. With the national emphasis on education in this year of the satellites, the class turned to garnering academic honors and preparing to find work for the next year. As the senior year came to a close the class had little time to reflect on the past as it once more proved its capabilities with an outstanding senior ball, baccalaureate, and graduation.

STUDENT COUNCIL

D. Celorie, K. Black, J. Almond, L. Reinhart, K. Whitney, B. Auer, P. Celorie, P. Haraughty, B. Major, K. Carlile, and T. Mahar discuss council problems.

Few students have ever had the opportunity of seeing the Student Body President function other than leading the Pledge of Allegiance and introducing an assembly. As head of the Student Council he directs all student activities, organizations, and publications. The Council is composed of student body officers and all representatives.

Under the direction of President Kurt Black, Marshfield's Student Body began another activity-filled year. To better prepare them for their offices, Bernadean Auer and Kurt Black attended the "Student Body Workshop" in Eugene before the start of school. The Freshman Mixer, held annually, turned out to be a big success. Four students of the Council attended the State Conference at Klamath Falls, where they learned more about student council work and the activities of other student bodies.

Among the Council's other activities were the National Assemblies, the March of Dimes Drive, and a dance held during March.

The Ma-Hi Times, developing its theme "Improving Our Sense of Values," and striving for its sixth consecutive first place Quill and Scroll award, launched into its thirtieth year of publication.

Each year maintaining constant efforts to improve, the paper sent Editor Ted Mahar to the University of Oregon for a concentrated course in high school journalism. In October the editor and Kim Whitney, associate editor, traveled to the University of Oregon and returned with even more ideas for a better paper.

Activity on the paper is not limited to writing alone. Jobs on the paper include writing, editing, reading copy, proofreading, head-writing, photography, bookkeeping, ad selling, advertising and page layout, and odd jobs that invariably arise.

Working on the paper provides an opportunity not only for using individual initiative but also for learning to work as a part of a unit.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Quill and Scroll, the national journalism honor society, has as its purpose, to promote interest in journalism. One of the smallest clubs in Marshfield High School, Quill and Scroll has started the year with only six members. They held a Christmas party and exchanged gifts; but because of their lack of members, they have had few meetings.

The officers are President Ted Mahar, Vice-President Leroy Reinhart, Secretary-Treasurer Kim Whitney, Adviser Mrs. Inez Limberg.

CAREER DAY

Career Day, held November 26, gave students an opportunity to hear individuals tell of their particular occupations and a chance to ask questions concerning future careers.

This year sixty speakers from forty-six occupations spoke to Marshfield students about their various positions. The speakers represented occupations ranging from pencil pushing to truck driving. The electrical workers class actually visited the plant and were shown how and where the work is done.

Lasting half a day, Career Day is held under the direction of William McLean, class Career Day representatives, and students from the Problems of Democracy classes.

Office Staff

Library

When they look back in a few years, students will remember the delicious meals they stowed away; the countless announcements they read; the patient, helpful librarians; and they will be truly grateful for all the people who made all those things possible.

Mr. Wilkes again headed the cafeteria staff; however, the freshman branch necessitated several additions to the library and office staffs. In charge of the libraries were Mr. Middleton and Mrs. Driver. Mrs. Crowe and Mrs. Grabbe supervised the main office with Mrs. Gervais directing the East Branch.

Not only were the students given an opportunity this year to develope the art of dramatic interpretation, but they were also able to promote children's theater in the community. Making full use of the new lighting system and a very effective and colorful stage setting, the drama department's main venture this year was an interpretation of the classic fairy tale THE SLEEPING BEAUTY. The play starred Dorothy Dickey, Gary VanLandingham, Barbara Cossette, Marvin Stottlemire, and Braunda Johannesen. Mr. Love directed the beautifully costumed production. Influenza interrupted a plan to present the play to the various elementary schools; however, the drama finally was given at a Saturday matinee on November 9.

Completing their choral Biblical readings, which added a new note to Christmas Vespers, the dramatists turned next to an adult play. ONIONS IN THE STEW, the spring production, featured Elizabeth Schaer, Steve Warr, Angella Cottell, Dick Giles, Dave Keene, and Katherine Lee in the humorous story of Betty MacDonald.

VOCAL MUSIC

Choir, Glee Club, Mixed Chorus and the ensembles, along with the junior high music groups, met the public for the first time this year when they presented the inspirational Christmas Vespers, which were centered around "The Sayings of Jesus."

On Valentine's Day, Choir and the Modern Dance group joined forces to present a colorful version of "Oklahoma" as a halftime show at the North Bend game.

The many activities of spring included a Choir appearance on television, the Spring Concert, and the District Music Festival, which was held in the Marshfield gymnasium.

The Serenettes, Gleemen, Madrigal, and the Beachcombers added much variety to school, community, and music functions throughout the year.

TRI-M

The Tri-M this year honored Mrs. Herbert Busterud and Mrs. Chester Isaacson for their music contribution to Marshfield and the community by making them honorary members. To promote interest in instrumental and vocal music, the Tri-M was installed at Marshfield three years ago. Officers for the year were Pat Green, president; Linda Hedden, vice-president; Madeline Brainard, corres. secretary; Jean Backer, record. secretary; Ken Johnson, treasurer; Marcia Houston, historian; and Juddy Jordan and Ken Tanner, members-at-large.

A BAND

Continuing to spark Marshfields activities, the fast stepping band, together with costumed marchers, helped to keep spirit alive during football half times by music based on such varied themes as "South of the Border," "A Tribute to National Education Week," and "A Salute to the Armed Services." The pep band, under Student Director Walt Gainer, also helped to kindle the victory fires by playing for assemblies and basketball games.

The increased popularity of the dance band was envinced in its ever-growing schedule of performances at school and community functions.

The instrumental groups presented a "pops" concert in February and the regular spring concert in April, completing the school year with the annual district festival at North Bend and a picnic at Lake Cleawox in May.

SPEECH CLUB

An increasing number of students were given the chance this year to promote their speaking ability by taking part in contests, debates, discussion groups, radio and other types of programs.

Participation in tournaments at Pacific and Linfield Universities, the United Nations Speech Contest, the "I Speak for Democracy" contest, the Constitution contest, and the district and state speech contests provided valuable experience and gave students a chance to hear the speech efforts of students from other schools.

Debate topic for the year was foreign aid. Those taking part not only developed better speaking habits, but also gained an enriched knowledge of the important problem.

"Spotlight on the Pirates," the school's voice in the community, is the weekly half-hour radio program on KOOS. It featured speech students who presented Marshfield school and sport news, talent, favorite tunes, and a "Person of the Week" who had been a particular credit to the school and community.

The end of the year brought the Speech Club banquet, assembly, and the presentation of the McKeown Speech Improvement Award. This year's end also saw many satisfied speech students richly rewarded through their own improvement.

TORCH

Torch, the local chapter of the National Honor Society, under the advisership of Miss Tedrow, is composed of top all-round students from the junior and senior classes of Marshfield High School.

To be admitted into this organization, a student must have a grade point average of 1.8 for a non-academic course and a 2.0 for an academic course. Other than excellent scholarship, a person must possess the qualities of a good leader, responsibility when rendering service to his school and community, and good character.

During the year the society sponsored many activities including ushering at all Community Concerts, the Christmas Vesper Service, the all-school talent show, and annual Spring Concert. Honor certificates were issued at the end of each nine-weeks to students whose grades did not fall below 2.0. At midyear the National Honor Society made a survey for Mr. Shellenbarger on what type of study habits the above-average students used to help them acquire good grades.

The society capped its scholarship promotion activities by giving financial aid to a worthy senior for use in furthering his education.

Officers for the year were Ron Gebhardt, president; Madeline Brainard, vice-president; Pat Green, secretary; Tim Bullard, treasurer; Miss Jean Sandine, adviser.

I. R. L.

International Relations League, one of Marshfield High School's youngest organizations, spent much of its time earning money for a foreign exchange student. Projects included a candy sale, a cooked food sale, shoe shines, and concessions. In January three foreign exchange students from the University of Oregon talked to the club about their countries. In February a delegation was sent to the I.R.L.—Model United Nations in Eugene. It represented Poland and was a member of the Soviet Bloc. I.R.L., a forty member club directed by Dr. William McLean, is open to sophomores in World History class, juniors, and seniors.

In promoting an interest in art and using that interest in serving the school, the members of Paletteers willingly donated many hours to carry out successful projects during the year. One of the largest projects was decorating and making programs for the GAA state conference. The Art Club designed and built the backdrops for the Christmas Vespers and Spring Concert as well as doing scenery for dramatic productions. The winning float entered in the North Bend Football Rally was still another sample of Paletteers' ability and ingenuity.

Under the direction of their new adviser, Mr. Darrell Long, "Los Gringos" has had a busy year gaining a deeper understanding of the people, customs, art, and literature of the Spanish-speaking countries.

Their many activities included the entrance of a float in the North Bend Rally, a Christmas pinata party, and a Mexican Customs party. Other highlights of the year were a club dinner at which many Spanish foods were sampled and Spanish movies.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Marshfield High School Science Club recorded the biggest year in its history. With the election of officers the club began the planning of the first annual science fair. Selling ice cream at games and establishing dues for members were means of raising money for the fair and other activities. Movies and field trips proved very educational sources of entertainment for meetings. On work nights many members prepared their individual projects for the science fair. The fair, drawing a large crowd, was held in late spring. Winners in the various divisions were awarded prizes, but even those not receiving a prize in the fair gained a great satisfaction from the experience and fun they had.

HI-Y

Hi-Y is an organization of Christian High School boys for the purpose of promoting high standards of moral character. It is affiliated with the Y.M.C.A. and is a student service organization.

Hi-Y has sent aid to UNESCO, the March of Dimes, and CARE. The club has helped set up the bloodmobile and in the early fall poured cement at Camp Easter Seal for a new recreation building. Providing the Christmas tree for the main hall and helping with its decoration and care was another service of Hi-Y. The Sweetheart's Ball, in February, was held in conjunction with the Tri-Hi-Y, this year's theme being "Loving You."

As in the past, the club raised funds by selling mammoth cans of coffee at sporting events; in fact Hi-Y and coffee became almost synonymous at Marshfield with the organization's serving at such events as institutes, teachers' meetings and picnics, and "Back to School Night."

Four delegates were sent to the State Capitol in Salem for the annual Youth and Government program. Attending this meeting were some four hundred Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y youth legislators of the state. Here they learned of some of the functions of the state government, actually elected a boy governor, and passed model bills.

Hi-Y Executive Board Members were: S. Beckham, L. Curtis, T. Bullard, M. Coleman, B. Haun, Mr. McLean.

TRI-HI-Y

Tri-Hi-Y is a religious organization for girls who are upperclassmen and are interested in attending other churches. Each month the club attends a church of a different denomination. Tri-Hi-Y also gives girls an opportunity to serve their school as well as their community.

Thirty girls were initiated in October at a formal ceremony. Reverend Kindschuh, the guest speaker, gave an interesting informal talk.

To raise money the girls sold football programs during November and held a Merchants Lunch. Although the Merchants Lunch was not a financial success, the girls had fun working on it and gained experience in mass food preparation.

The first service project was taking favors to the residents of Mercy home to cheer them through the holiday season. Keizer Hospital, McAuley Hospital, and Mercy Home heard the carols of Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y as they walked through the halls to brighten the spirits of the patients.

February, a very busy month for Tri-Hi-Y, found them not only selling for two consecutive games but also working on the Sweethearts Ball with Hi-Y, participating in a bundle drive together with Hi-Y, and going to Eugene for the prelegislative assembly to prepare for Youth and Government.

In May, Lynn Savage traveled to Salem as a representative from the club at Youth and Government.

Each year Tri-Hi-Y is coming nearer its goal to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character.

With the motto "Forward to New Horizons" in mind, the Future Homemakers of America this year sought to expand its activities and to continue those of past years. They continued, together with North Bend, to aid a Korean orphan. In October the FHA officers presented a skit for freshmen taking home economics. For the first time in the club's history freshmen were initiated before completing one semester of home economics. November found FHA sending delegates to the district conference and preparing dinner for the Hi-Y initiation. Once again members babysat for parents attending Christmas Vespers.

The girls continued the hard work the second semester by selling ice cream at basketball games, holding a mom's night in the new home ec department of the East Branch, initiating new members, sending delegates to state conference at O.S.C., and serving dinner to the FFA.

As in years past, the Future Farmers of America has had a busy and profitable year. Its largest project has been the experimental farm recently acquired from the Menasha Plywood Corporation. The members have had many other activities including a donkey basketball game and concessions at games to provide funds to stock the farm. For the first time the organization assisted Girls' League with the Sadie. The annual Barnyard Stampede was held in the spring. Plans to send delegates to the National Convention were also made. All of these activities have served their purpose of developing leadership and the ability to co-operate with others.

The "Marjorie Tedrow Chapter" of Future Teachers of America helps give prospective teachers an idea of just what it is to be a teacher—its requirements, goals, and problems. This year the association under the advisership of Miss Sandine, particularly stressed the field of special education. Members include both junior and senior students who hope to go into some field of education upon completion of college.

FTA delegates attended two conferences during the school year—a state meeting at Medford and Ashland and a district meeting at Roseburg. In conjunction with "National Education Week" in November, the Future Teachers organization held its annual talent show, "The Teachers' Hideaway," a comical interpretation of what goes on around M.H.S. The highlight of the year was the observation program held during the latter part of February. Members of the organization were given the opportunity to visit classrooms throughout the area for one hour a day to gain first hand experience and knowledge of what it is like to conduct a classroom of children.

Mrs. Keith Wade tells of special education in Coos Bay.

The year's program also included monthly evening meetings featuring guest speakers who represented the various phases of education. In the spring a special 9-C night for all teachers and administrators of the district was sponsored by the club. Throughout the year a file of college catalogues and other material on higher education was kept up to date for student use.

Through money earned selling decals containing a pirate caricature, programs, and cokes, the club presented two scholarships to promising future teachers for use in furthering their education.

Officers for the year were Bernadine Auer, president; Tom Jenkins, vice-president; Roberta Spears, recording secretary; Barbara Bennett, corresponding secretary; Geneieve Stever, treasurer; Bob Werber, progam chairman; and Kim Whitney, publicity manager.

Highlight of this year's activities for the Girls' Athletic Association was the planning and holding of the state conference at Marshfield. Theme of the conference, "Treasure Chest," was subtly carried out with decorations depicting the treasures offered by GAA.

The association prospered during the year under President Kay Burke and Adviser Miss Beverly Swink. Other activities included a camping trip at Siltcoos, challenging the FFA to donkey basketball, potlucks, cook outs, playdays, ushering at all varsity games, and a mothers' night. GAA has done much to promote friendship, wise use of leisure time, sportsmanship, and appreciation of the out-of-doors.

GIRLS' LEAGUE

Girls' League, an organization open to all girls at Marshfield, re-emphasized this year its program for the promotion of friendship among students. Increased enrollment, split noon hours, and development of the East Branch brought about this need for a friendlier spirit. As part of this program, "hello cards" were sold to both girls and boys at the beginning of each semester. Furthering this attempt to create a friendly spirit within the student body was the establishment of a "hello lane" between the auditorium and the East Branch.

To increase the treasury, the league held a mid-year rummage sale. Striving to give a more orderly and cheery atmosphere, Girls' League worked with GAA to renovate the sick room in the Girls' gym, still another new project for the year.

Traditional activities included the Sadie held in November, tree decorating for Christmas Vespers, and the presenting of Girl of the Month bracelets. Once again the hot dog sellers competed for pins.

"Can a Poor Girl Afford to Go to College in These High Priced Times?"—a discussion by Miss Mary Robinson, assistant Dean of Women at O.S.C., and two Coos Bay co-eds—highlighted the January meeting. With spring came Gals' Day and the Mother-Daughter Reception, the grand finale of the year's activities.

RIFLE CLUB

In an all state divisional rifle match, held for the first time at Marshfield High School, many Rifle Club members vied for state awards. Other matches included two trips to Roseburg, the senior match at Oregon State College, and an intraclub match held at the end of the year.

The purpose of Rifle Club is to instruct students in the safe handling of firearms both on the rifle range and in the field, to help one develop skill in marksmanship, and to create an interest in a worthwhile leisure activity.

For the first time, the club awarded pins to its members. They were awarded on the basis of participation, skill, and loyalty to the club.

Officers for this year were Roy Culley, president; K. Koski, vice-president; Janice Lundberg, secretary; Jerry Giles, treasurer; Dave Miller, publicity manager; and Mr. Donald Bunyard, head coach.

PEP CLUB

Pep Club, one of the largest organizations at Marshfield, has the overwhelming task of promoting continuous school spirit and promoting friendlier relations with other schools. To become a member each girl must participate in the activities of the white shirt section for one year, must attend all home games, and have good citizenship grades.

Under the direction of President Dona Foote and Adviser Miss Francis Hussey, the Pepsters have chartered rooter busses to several games, sponsored a banquet to honor officers and the Rally Squad, and have promoted several money making projects. The Band-Aides, composed of Pep Club members, added spice and color to half-time shows.

From the opening minutes of the first football game to the close of the basketball season, the Rally Staff displayed variety and precision with such novelty routines as "Sweet Georgia Brown," "The Trot," and "Basin Street."

Appearing in outfits other than white for the first time in the school's history, the Rally sported lavender novelty sweaters and full skirts for basketball season. With white culottes and bulky knit sweaters the two yell leaders trimmed the new array of color.

In striving to bring the home and school closer together, the Rally Squad started off the school year with a banquet to honor their mothers. The town's people were asked to participate in the down town rally in order to bring about a better understanding between the community and the school. In addition the staff also took charge of the after-game dances, football and basketball coronation, pep assemblies, and hall signs.

NEW RECORD

The capturing of a new state record for consecutive victories marked the high point in the football season at Marshfield High School. The Pirates won this new honor by defeating Medford, the previous record-holder, 12-0. The elation following this string of forty victories was short-lived as the Buccaneer squad—beset by the flu, injuries, and ineligibilities—suffered first a tie with the Springfield Millers and on the successive Friday a loss to the Eugene Axemen, Marshfield's only loss in four years of play.

Marshfield started the gridiron season in convincing fashion by holding the first five opponents scoreless. In spite of the marred record, the Pirate juggernaut rolled up 166 points, while holding the opponents to 35.

Pete Susick has high hopes of regaining the state championship with a squad that has already posted a victory against Grants Pass in a post-season battle previously postponed because of flu.

The Junior Varsity, coached by Bruce Hoffine and Tony Koreiva, won three games, lost one, and had two cancelled because of influenza. The team defeated Powers, North Bend, and Coquille. One loss to the Bullpups was the first ever administered to a Pirate Jayvee team by North Bend.

BASKETBALL

Marshfield, under coach Bruce Hoffine, had a much better season than expected, although the team didn't make the state tourney for the second time in eleven years. Never out of the top fifteen teams in the state, Marshfield won fifteen games, while losing seven in one of the hottest contested league battles in years. Out of the many teams in the state, five of the league's six teams were constantly listed in the top ten or twelve.

Mel Counts, the tallest player ever to wear a Marshfield uniform, became the highest scoring sophomore in Pirate history when he cracked the 400 point mark. He also established a new single game high of thirty-seven. Hardy Spurgeon, team captain, was second to Counts in both scoring and rebounding, the other starters were Walt Hunter, Larry Bick, Gary Rossi, and Ken Baker.

B SQUAD

The Frosh averaged 56.6 points per game while holding the opponents to a meager 30. In the last game of the season they scored 90 points against N.B. The leading scorer was Stan Traxler with 213 points in 17 games for an average of 12.9. The season's win-loss record was 16—1, with the only loss coming from big brothers the J.V.'s.

WRESTLING

Three wrestlers highlighted the season for Marshfield at the state finals by garnering a thirteenth place finish. Dave Wood—third place, 148 pounds; Tom Jenkins—fourth place, 178 pounds; and Roy Sinclair, who was eliminated in the 141 pound class—helped to gain fifteen points for the Pirates. The team, as a whole, won three dual matches and lost some very close ones. In the sub-district meet the Pirates qualified eighteen men for the district meet at Eugene.

North Bend proves to be difficult for Stan Keefer to handle.

TENNIS

The Marshfield tennis team, which lost only one member of last year's fine crew, looked forward to the coming season with eager anticipation. Of the returning lettermen only one was a senior, Dan Grischkowsky, and the rest were sophomores—Gary Gehlert, Karl Coke, and Lorance Eickworth. The team was coached this year by Mr. Bruce Hoffine.

With three returning lettermen from last year's team, which won sixth place in the state, the golf team this year held great promise. The team is coached by Chet Haliski, who took over the job from Wayne Fox. Back from last year's team were Larry Bick, John Forrester, and Dick Wood.

Tentative matches included a trip to Corvallis for an Invitational Meet, district clashes with North Bend, Roseburg, and Eugene, and a match with the University of Oregon Frosh.

Returning lettermen included Gary Rossi and Rick Saukkonen in the hurdles; Rossi and Dick Shanley in the high jump; Walt Hunter and Chuck Sasse in the sprints; Leroy Braceline, Les Golbek, and Dick Sumpter in the middle distances; Hardy Spurgeon and Tim Bullard in the javelin.
